

The Evening

By: Francesca

I look upon
this evening
the grass

tickling my feet.
I look up
see the clouds

thrown carelessly
across the sky.

People picnicking,
like flowers,
dots of color.

Everything
has a tint
of pale blue,
like a painting,
an artist,
trying to make,
it all match,
just right.